Property Tax Panic Reaches Lawmakers—Finally

Here is a simplified chart by which citizens who have been confused by conflicting claims on the two tax relief propositions can get a better idea of what each offers.

The Jarvis-Gann Proposition (13) has shaken lawmakers as nothing else affecting their future. 13 is the people's crusade against the free-spending officials who are using tax money for wacky projects — some of which are welfare and sociological giveaways. So many political careers were placed in jeopardy by citizens rallying for 13 (a revolt against property taxes) that lawmakers hurriedly produced Proposition 8.

Whether or not it is a better deal is a matter of conjecture. One thing is for certain. Schools, fire departments and police departments will not be closed. But much of the "fat" will go with 13.

So frightening is the uprising of the taxpayer under 13 that politicians in states across the nation have focused intense attention on the outcome.

It is suspected that they feel they could live with a fat-free property tax but the nightmare of further retribution by angry taxpayers must be uppermost in that worry.

Their concern begs the question: "Where will they strike next?"

	PROPOSITION 8 (S.B. 1)	PROPOSITION 13 (Jarvis-Gann)
Homeowners	Would provide for about a 34% reduction in property taxes in San Diego County. Shifts the burden of certain welfare and health programs from the homeowner to the State.	Would limit taxes on real property to 1% of the 1975-76 market value, which amount to about a 62% property tax reduction.
Senor Citizens	Increases existing senior citizen property tax relief, in addition to the 34% reduction allowed for all property owners. Also increases senior citizen renters property tax assistance.	Does not provide for specific tax relief for senior citizens. But senior homeowners would benefit immediately and renters would not be plagued by continuing rent increases.
Renters	Increases the renters tax credit from $37 to $75. Also provides additional renters relief to senior citizens.	Does not provide for specific renter relief, but its overall impact would take owner and renter property off rocketing living quarters costs.
Taxes	Would allow the Assessor to prepare two assessment rolls (split roll) one for owner-occupied homes and one for all other property. This would allow for lower property tax rates on owner-occupied homes.	Would limit annual inreases in property assesments to 2%. New homes or homes which are sold would be taxed at 1% of the market value.

New County Zoning Ordinance Has Public Hearing Wednesday

A public hearing on a proposed new County Zoning Ordinance will be held by the County Board of Supervisors on Wednesday, April 19, at 2 p.m., in the North Chambers (Room 385) of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific hiwy., San Diego.

The proposed ordinance would affect land uses in the unincorporated areas of the county. The primary purpose of the hearing will be to receive testimony from the public about the proposed ordinance before it is considered for adoption.

After holding 4 public hearings on the ordinance the Planning Commission at its February 17 meeting, recommended approval of the proposed zoning ordinance.

The proposed ordinance has been in preparation over the past several years by County staff in conjunction with a land use consulting firm. According to Jim Gilshian, director of the County's Department of Land Use and Environmental Regulation (LUER), the ordinance will provide a flexible system of zoning regulations which will be responsive to the wide ranging needs and desires of the County's residents.

The first County Zoning Ordinance was enacted in 1932. In 1954, the ordinance was completely revised. The 1954 ordinance, although it has been amended many times, is basically the ordinance used today for the unincorporated areas. If adopted, the new ordiance will replace the 1954 ordinance.

Gilshian also said that although the new ordinance is innovative and contains provisions not found in the present ordinance, great care was taken in its preparation to assure that regulations are provided which closely match those in the present ordinance. He said the new proposed ordinance can be adopted and applied County-wide without and significant change in the regulations which now apply to private property.

The proposed ordinance is similar to the present ordinance in general scope and content but contains several new and innovative features which are intended to improve the quality of the ordinance and provide greater flexibility.

Among these are: (1) improved organization and format;

(2) a system of classifying land use which will be simpler to administer and reduce the number of ordinance amendments required;

(3) a flexible sytem of land use controls which will permit regulations to be "tailored" to specific local needs and better accommodate changing conditions;

(4) the introdction of new zoning techniques such as performance standards, usable open space regulations and floor-area ratio provisions; and

(5) more extensive use of planned development and site plan review procedures.

Discussion on the proposed ordinance can be had by calling the main office of LUER at 565-3963.

Copies of the ordinance are available for review at all County branch libraries and LUER offices.

The main office of LUER is located at 9150 Chesapeake drive, San Diego.

The El Cajon branch is at 200-L East Main street, El Cajon.

All interested citizens are encouraged to attend the public hearing before the Board of Supervisors.

Swap Meet License Denial 'Outrages People' – Doherty

The majority should not be penalized because a "couple of crooks" take their loot to a swap meet, Lemon Grove City Councilman Jack Doherty said this week.

"You don't close down a big operation because there are a couple of crooks in it. You're hurting too many people," he said.

Doherty, candidate for sheriff in the coming election, said attendance at swap meets in San Diego County runs into the tens of thousands each week.

Police studies show only a comparative handful of swap meet users are thieves disposing of loot, said Doherty, a San Diego police officer on leave for his election campaign.

But despite the popularity of the meets, Sheriff John Duffy has refused to renew the license for the weekend bazaar in nearby Spring Valley.

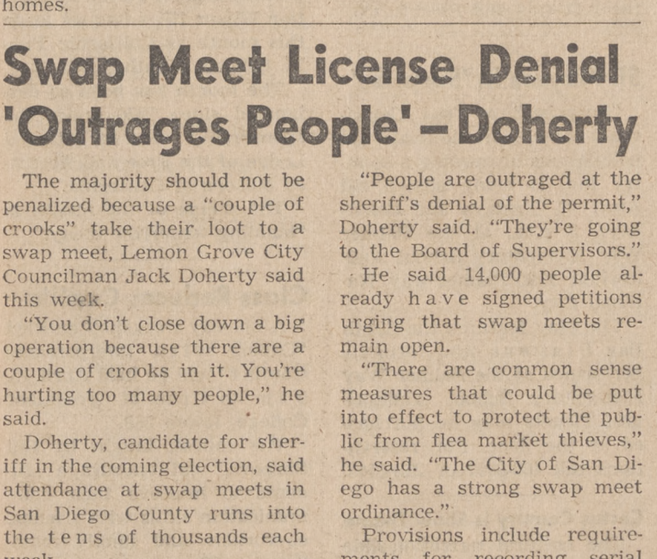
"People are outraged at the sheriff's denial of the permit," Doherty said. "They're going to the Board of Supervisors."

He said 14,000 people already have signed petitions urging that swap meets remain open.

"There are common sense measures that could be put into effect to protect the public from flea market thieves," he said. "The City of San Diego has a strong swap meet ordinance."

Provisions include requirements for recording serial numbers and regular scrutiny by members of police fencing details, said the candidate, a law school graduate.

He said operators of 8 other swap meets in the county were being informed of the sheriff's action and predicted a large turnout when the Spring Valley matter is reviewed by the Supervisors Wednesday.



SATURDAY'S OLD TIME DAYS PARADE drew about as many viewers to commemorate Lemon Grove's first birthday as in the past despite the threat of rain.

San Altos Store Robbed of $340

A robber took $340 and a bottle of peach brandy at gunpoint from the San Altos Liquor store.

Alexander Goudsmid, the clerk, reported to sheriff's deputies that a man, about 20, brandished a blue-steel handgun and demanded the money in the cash register about 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

The clerk said the robber had blond, curly hair, was clean-shaven and was neat appearing.

Te suspect fled in a late model, olive green, American-made car.

The liquor store is at 1827 Massachusetts.

Mills To Speak At Fri. SD CoC

State Sen. James R. Mills (D-San Diego) will address the San Diego Chamber of Commerce's Focal Point Tomorrow at Centrol Federal Tower.

Mills, president pro tem of the Senate, will discuss San Diego related issues and legislative programs he supports.

His recent measure, Senate Bill 1746, would abolish the Comprehensive Planning Organization and return regional planning to the San Diego County government.

A Mills measure two years ago established the Metropolitan Transit Development Board, which is preparing rapid-transit plans for the San Diego area.

Mills, who represents the 40th Senate District, also is the author of Proposition 12 on the June ballot. This would set up a compensation commission to set salaries and benefits for elected state officials and judges.

Focal Point begins at 12 noon on the 22nd floor at Central Federal, Second and Broadway, downtown. The luncheon is free and open to the public. Guests are asked

LG's Taxable Sales Tops $19,843,000

Taxable sales in California set another record in 1977, soaring to almost $100 billion for the calendar year as fourth quarter figures topped $27.1 billion.

Iris Sankey, Member, State Board of Equalization, announced that sales during the last three months of 1977 exceeded totals for the same period in 1976 by $3.8 billion or 16.3 percent.

Taxable transactions for all of 1977 totaled $99.5 billion, $15.7 billion or 18.7 percent more than in 1976, which had registered a 14.1 percent increase over 1975.

Sankey said that fourth quarter taxable sales volume computed in constant dollars was 9.3 percent higher than in 1976, since prices had risen by 7 percent. For all of 1977, the sales volume expressed in constant dollars was 11.6 percent higher than in 1976, as prices had increased during the year by 7.1 percent.

("Constant dollar" is defined as the purchasing power of the dollar expressed in terms of its 1976 value, so that a valid comparison can be made without the distortion of inflation.)

Lemon Grove, she said, had taxable sales totaling $19,843,000 in the 4th quarter.

Election Due June 6

Three Candidates File For LG School Board

Three candidates have filed petitions with the Registrar of Voters for the upcoming June 6 election which will fill one open seat on the Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees.

On the ballot will be retired contracting officer Mrs. Evelyn Ball, retired quality engineer Leo Bodin, and health care administrator Charles Pennell.

The names will appear on the ballot in alphabetical order purely by coincidence.

Three times in even numbered years and four times in odd numbered years, The California Secretary of State drops 26 letters, according to the law, into "oqaque and of uniform weight, color, size, shape, and texture" capsules into a container which is "shaken vigorously in order to mix them thoroughly".

Capsules are then removed randomly one at a time to determine the order names will appear on the ballot.

This methods of listing candidates on the ballot became law last year.

The election on June 6 will fill the seat vacated in early March by Trustee James Dorman.

The Board of Trustees decided in mid-February to hold the special election as a money saving measure.

The candidates in the order they will appear on the ballot are:

Evelyn Ball

The first candidate listed on the ballot will be Mrs. Evelyn Ball of 7655 Circle drive, a retired sales contracting officer for the Department of Defense.

Mrs. Ball has resided in Lemon Grove since 1950 and has had three family members, two daughters and a granddaughter, who have attended the Lemon Grove schools.

Evelyn Ball

Previously, she has been a management analyst and personnel administrator in both San Diego and in Germany.

The reasons for Mrs. Ball's candidacy are to get involved.

"With the new school finance law, AB-65, and Proposition 13 as the most important issues facing school districts, I think everybody that lives here should get interested. What the board needs is somebody with the time to devote, the attention to give, and the interest for school matters.

"While serving in Germany, I had opportunity to view the educational systems of Europe. The Scandinavian countries have a very advanced system of education which intermingles elderly persons with school children, enhancing the education of both."

She would actively pursue programs which would bring together senior citizens and children.

Mrs. Ball retired last year and has since become active in the PTA, the Girl Scouts, and square dancing.

Leo Bodin

The second candidate listed on the June ballot will be retired aerospace engineering consultant Leo Bodin, a Lemon Grove resident for seven years.

Bodin, 2770 Dennis lane, has two children and one grandchild.

His local activities include volunteer coordinator for the Informational Task Force for Recreation and Human Services, a group under the direction of the Lemon Grove city council, and he is a charter member of the Lemon Grove Players.

His reasons for seeking a seat on the Lemon Grove board is to scrutinize school expenses.

"The most important problem the school system will face is whether or not Jarvis-Gann passes. The public is in a move to scrutinize very carefully school expenses.

"If elected, I hope to cooperate with other trustees in preserving the school system which will emphasize the basics in education.

"I am confident I am capable to serve the school district well and provide the public with mature decisions within the limits of this school board's authority.

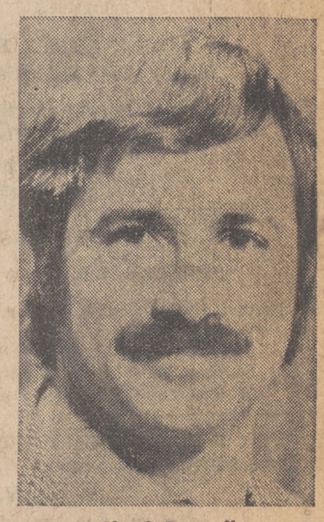
"The operation of the board is fiscally sound and I hope to contribute my years of business background to the maintenance of this healthy condition."

Chuck Pennell

The third candidate listed is 39 year old Charles Pennell of 2115 Craig court, the assistant director of the county's Department of Substance Abuse.

Pennell has resided in Lemon Grove since 1975, has been a county resident since 1961, and has two daughters who attend Lemon Grove schools.

He currently serves on the recently formed site council for Mt. Vernon Elementary



Chuck Pennell

School, a council formed by the new school finance bill, AB-65.

Also, he serves on the goals committee to the Lemon Grove School District, a position he has held since 1976.

The reasons for his candidacy are his availability and a desire to get the Lemon Grove School District more involved in the Sacramento legislative process.

Also he feels boards should not "sit on their tails and respond" to directives from the legislature.

"The board needs a more

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Has Life Passed Me By?

Q. I'm 21 years old, and I have no idea at all what God wants me to do with my life.

I'm worried because maybe it already passed me by.

If you have any advice at all to give me please feel free to give it.

I'm open to anything. I'd appreciate it very much if you would please send me a copy of your booklet entitled "Try Prayer Power."

A. It is not abnormal at age 21 to be uncertain as to your life work. It is, of course, utterly foolish at that young age to even think that life has passed you by. Just keep on praying and asking God for guidance.

And don't overpressure Him, but be patient and you will get the guidance as to what direction you life should take and what your goals should be.

We are very glad to send you a free copy of our booklet, "Try Prayer Power." And any reader of this column who desires this booklet may have a copy at no charge by writing to us in care of Box 500 Pawling, NY 12564.

Feels Like a 'Weirdo'

Q. I had back surgery and it has left my left hip, leg and foot numb. My doctor tells me it will take three months to a year for it to heal if it does.

It has been four months and I am finding it very hard to cope with.

I used to be a very active person, doing a lot of things a young person likes to do. I am 28 years old. My husband loves to dance, and I do too, but I can't do this now.

I exercise a lot, but it seems like everything is at a standstill.

People are always staring at met, and it makes me feel like a weirdo.

I am getting to the point where I think my husband deserves someone else. I hope you can help me.

A. Don't be so self-depreciating. Your husband knows you are having physical problems, and it is irrational to assume that because of this fact your husband deserves someone else. He doesn't want anyone else, so don't even entertain the thought.

It is foolish to imagine that everybody is staring at you. Actually, that is a form of egotism. Just act naturally and take yourself as you are and believe that you are getting better every day.

Who Goes to the Funeral?

Q. I married man four years ago whom I had known all of my life. He was divorced from his first wife after 26 years and three children. He had married another and lived with her until her death.

Now I understand his first wife thought that she could get rid of her present husband and they could be married again and all live happily ever after.

But I came on the scene too soon. Now my husband has had a light stroke and the doctors have told us it may happen again at any time and it may be death the next time.

When the time comes the children want their mother to be at the funeral.

One says she will not go if her mother can't be there too.

Now where do I go from here? If they come where do I sit? With all of them? Is there an answer to my problem? Should we get a divorce and let them go back together?

A. In this mixed-up family situation one thing is clear: you are the man's wife and of course are the honored widow at the funeral.

You must be big enough in the dignified atmosphere of death to welcome your husband's children and their mother and anyone else who gathers in honor of the deceased.

But why don't you pray and affirm your husband's health and be happy with him, and don't have him dead too soon?

Radiothon to Aid S.D. Symphony

There's something for everyone offered at the weekend Radiothon '78 on KFSD (94.1) which will benefit the San Diego Symphony Orchestra.

From noon Friday to midnight Sunday "fabulous premiums" will be sold to listeners—priced at less than retail value. The number to call during that time is 299-5800.

Merchants county-wide have donated premiums to clothe the body, furnish the home, enhance an antique or art collection, or keep a kitchen stocked with food, wine, utensils or cookbooks. There is also a number of services available—from an architect's consultation to a plant expert's suggestions for use of indoor plants.

Members of the San Diego Symphony are donating services far removed from their musical talents. Violinist Nick Grant will give a one-hour body-surfing lesson; and violinist Jose Mondrogan will challenge anyone to a chess match blindfolded. Percussionist Jim Hoffman will cater a spaghetti dinner for eight, and cellist Marcia Zeavin will do an Israeli brunch for 15.

M.C. for the event is Mike Cuthbert, program director of Washington, D.C.'s fine arts station WGMS, who returns for the third straight year.

Catalogues listing Radiothon premiums are available by calling 239-9721.

The San Diego Public Library has been designated as one of a national network of libraries housing regional collections of the Foundation Center. The collection provides up-to-date research materials for individuals and organizations interested in applying for grants.

Persons interested in attending the workshop must register in advance. Call Margaret Kazmer at 236-5817 or Caroline McGilbray at 397-0902.

HOME-COOKED This Week's RECIPE

Grapefruit Wine Jelly

Grapefruit will be making itself well-known in the supermarkets through May but the trouble is: what else can you do with it besides cut it in half and eat it for breakfast.

Grapefruit have been used for several things including ballast on 18th century sailing ships.

But the fruit which grows in clusters of 40 to 50 per stalk may be best suited for Grapefruit Wine Jelly.

Grapefruit Wine Jelly

- 1 cup freshley squeezed, strained grapefruit juice
- 1 cup claret or ruby red port wine
- 3½ cups sugar
- ½ bottle (3 ounces) liquid pectin

In a small heavy saucepan, combine grapefruit juice, wine and sugar; stir over very low heat until well blended. Warm mixture just until bubbles appear around edge of pan and sugar is dissolved, about five to six minutes.

Remove from heat and immediately stir in pectin. Skim off foam, if necessary. Pour immediately into hot sterilized jars and seal. Yield: about five 8-ounce jars.

THE LITTLER SWING — Gene Littler, who has won nearly $1½ million because of swings like the one shown above, has won 29 tournaments in his 25-year career. He also won the most crucial of all battles —one with cancer. He will be among the most popular figures in the 17th MONY Tournament of Champions this week-end at La Costa.

Tee Champs Match Puts & Pitches In ToC at La Costa This Week

By Stan Wood

RANCHO LA COSTA—It's a pixiesh twist of irony that a man many thought would never play golf again after a bittler struggle against cancer in 1971 would turn out to be one of the most durable golfers in pro history.

La Jolla's Gene Littler will be playing in his 17th MONY T of C Tournament of Championswhen he tees it up April 13-16 at the La Costa Resort Hotel, Spa and Country Club.

Only Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper have played in as many, but neither is winning on the PGA Tour of late.

Littler's participation in this prestigious event spans 25 years of the tournament's 26-year existence. Gene played in the MONY T of C for the first time in 1954, when Jay Haas, one of nine rookie starters this year, was only ONE year old.

Shockingly, Gene is the oldest qualifier at 47 (48 in July).

Winner of 29 tournaments and some $1,400,000 in his 25-year career, Gene has fared exceptionally well in this elite event, open only to winners of major tournaments since the last MONY T of C.

He is the only man to win three consecutive titles in 1955-56-57. He has won by the widest margin, 13 shots in 1955. In his previous 15 efforts (he couldn't play in the 1972 tourney) he has finished ninth or better 13 times. At La Costa, Gene has finished fifth four times.

For all his success, the modest Littler has never been favored with the adulation of other golf stars.

"It's all a question of values," he said, shrugging his shoulders. "Unless you win every other week like Nicklaus or have the personality of Trevino or are dynamic like Palmer, you're sort of a forgotten man."

Gene will have to be at his best, which is plenty good, to make off with the $45,000 first prize. Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Hubert Green, Raymond Floyd, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Hale Irwin, Al Geiberger and Ben Crenshaw are expected to supply the sternest competition.

Lineup for MONY ToC

There are 29 champions entered in the 26th annual $225,000 MONY Tournament of Champions at La Costa.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Ray Kroc is a fiesty old guy who takes on the world at his own pace. He has a fighter's heart, a semi-short fuse and a twinkle in his eye. And at his time and position in life's long parade, he does things as he damn well pleases.

It pleases him to have Roger Craig lead his Padre baseball team into the 1978 campaign. And it pleases Kroc to have Randy Jones well and healthy to open the home campaign.

Now all Roger and Randy have to do to keep Ray pleased is to win. Not everytime out, of course, but more often than not.

And the best time to start a home winning streak is Friday night when the Padres open their San Diego Stadium campaign against the San Francisco Giants. There's nothing like starting early.

And if the Padres hope to play better than .500 ball what better time to get "even" with Joe Altobelli's Giants for slippin' the "green wienie" to Craig's crew up in Candlestick in the season opening series.

The Giants took two of three and the Padres had to overcome a six run handicap in the game they won.

Randy got hit pretty good in the four innings he worked at Candlestick and the "boo-birds" are all set to tag him with a quick KO for the season.

But, for those who care, Randy didn't have his "stuff" working on a sunny day in a windy place. Give him some nice "heavy" night air in friendly San Diego Stadium and let him hear the home crowd roar in approval as he rocks in his locked-in rhythm and sends his sinker dancing on moonbeams and he'll show you the Randy Jones of the Cy Young season.

It seems to skip the memory of some critics that just two years ago Randy Jones was the hottest property in the game. He completed 25 games, won 22 against 14 losses and played for a club without a bullpen.

An unnecessary surgical look-see at Jones' inner-arm damage set the cheerful left-hander back in his recuperation from a worn bicep muscle nerve.

Randy spent the first half of last season going through a delayed "spring training." He put it all together, briefly, in May when he dispatched Danny Ozark's Philadelphia Phillies in just one hour and 29 minutes for his only complete game of last year.

Randy came on strong in late summer and when he realized his arm was sound, he decided to call it quits and wait for this campaign.

"My arm isn't a problem anymore," he said at the time. "Right now my only problem is me. I've just got to sharpen my mental toughness."

He looked like the Randy Jones of old in his second last exhibition outing against the Angels, then seemed to lose his edge in a day game in the dry, light air of Palm Springs in his last pre-season appearance.

You could almost expect the know-it-alls to mealy-mouth the passing of Jones career and sure enough, a pessimistic pronunciation rumbled through the rumor market previewinng the Jones dirge.

Randy's own excitement and rush were undoubtedly aided by Candlestick's rip-snortin' wind and he just didn't have a lock in his mental game going in.

But San Diego Stadium is different. First off, it's home. Second, it's full of fine, friendly folks who'll give Randy his usual standing ovation as he heads for the bullpen to warm up.

And third. Randy has had a real heart-to-heart talk with his own toughest critic . . . Randy Jones, for the better part of a week and the results should bear fruit on Mission Valley's mound Friday night.

It will please Ray Kroc to see Randy Jones give a short shift to Altobelli's athletes. Such a performance would also please Roger Craig.

But more importantly, a solid short time game will greatly please Randy Jones and right now, he's more important to please than them other two guys.

There's nothing like the start of the baseball season to start the juices flowing and the sap running. In fact, thus far only one complaint has been heard about the current campaign. And that comes from the small fry.

"It's just too bad we can't have an opening day game instead of an opening night game," said one lad of the neighborhood.

Why? read on.

"Then we could skip school like everybody else on opening day."

Top 2-Year Old at HollyPark Sunday

Affirmed, Eclipse Award winner as the top two-year-old of 1977 and current co-favorite for the Kentucky Derby, will make his final start Sunday at Hollywood Park before journeying to Louisville.

The Laz Barrera - trained chestnut. who romped to eight-length victory in the recent Santa Anita Derby, will be seeking the richest payday of his career in the $250,000 Hollywood Derby, climactic event of the California Golden Triple series for three-year-olds.

Raced at a mile and one-eighth on the main track, the Derby will highlight the first weekend of the 1978 Hollywood Park meeting. Getting the weekend off to a quick start Saturday will be the $75,000 Gamely Handicap for fillies and mares, a nine-furlong turf test.

Affirmed's training schedule had been slowed by rain this winter and thus he still had something to prove when he started in the Santa Anita Derby.

But, Barrera's post - race comment—"I guess he showed today what kind of colt he is" —was proof that Affirmed is every bit as good as most people thought a year ago.

Padres to Open Season Friday

The Padres will open their initial home stand of the year on Friday against the San Francisco Giants at 7 p.m. with the Giants providing the opposition the following two days with game times set at 7 p.m. on Saturday, April 15 and then 1 p.m. in the Sunday, April 16 finale.

As befitting the occasion, the Padres have planned a gala opening day schedule with plenty of pre-game entertainment in the form of flag teams, bands, etc. and then the annual extravaganza of a fireworks display for post-game enjoyment.

Then, following the Giants to town will be the Houston Astros. Both clubs will be idle on Monday with the short series opening up on Tuesday, April 18 with the first of two back-to-back 7 p.m. encounters.

Rounding out the homestand will be four meetings with the Atlanta Braves beginning on Thursday, April 20 with the first 1 p.m. Business Special of the season. The Friday and Saturday, April 21-22 games will have 7 p.m. starts with the getaway contest on Sunday opening at 1 p.m.

"We said it going into the first road trip of the season and the same thing holds true now," said Padre manager Roger Craig, "and that is that we really need to get off to good start against these three clubs. If we are to be any kind of a factor in the eventual pennant race, then it is imperative that we open up on a winning note in the first three weeks of the season."

The opening homestand of the season will feature several top attractions including the return of Big Mac Sunday with free Big Mac hamburgers at any McDonald's the following Monday through Thursday with a paid ticket if the Padres win.

BACKPACK SUNDAY — Baseball fan Sean Brandes helps Padre All-Star Randy Jones try on one of the vinyl backpacks to be given away free Sunday to the first 25,000 youngsters 14 years of age and under who attend the Padre-San Francisco Giants game with an adult. Chargers Open Season in Seattle Home Opener Vs. Raiders Sept. 10

The Chargers meet the Oakland Raiders Sunday, September 10, in San Diego Stadium in their 1978 National Football League regular season, home-opening game.

The Chargers open the season, the NFL's 59th and the Chargers' 19th, at Seattle Sunday, September 3.

This season is the first under the NFL's expanded, 16-game format. The Chargers will play 8 regular season games at home and one preseason game at home.

"It's a tough schedule, but I don't think it's quite as difficult as last year's," said Chargers coach Tommy Prothro. "It should be a very attractive home schedule for our fans."

Included in the home schedule is a game Monday night, December 4, against the Chicago Bears that will provide a rare NFL matchup: Chargers running back Rickey Young will play against his nephew, Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton, who led the NFL in rushing with 1,852 yards and in touchdowns with 16 in 1977.

Young and Payton played in the same backfield at Jackson State U. in Jackson, Mississippi, from 1971-74 and are related by marriage.

Other home games are against Green Bay September 24; Denver October 8; Miami October 15; Cincinnati November 5; Kansas City November 12, and Seattle December 10.

Other road games are against Denver September 17; New England November 1; Detroit October 22; Oakland October 29; Minnesota November 19; Kansas City November 26, and Houston December 17.

The schedule is such that the Chargers may go a long way toward determining their chances of contending for the AFC Western Division championship in the first 9 games. They'll meet division favorites Oakland and Denver twice in that span.

The Chargers also will meet AFC East heavyweights New England and Miami in the first 9 games and their tenth game will be against AFC Central contender Cincinnati.

The combined won-lost record of the 8 teams coming to San Diego this season was 61-51 in 1977. The combined won-lost record in 1977 of all Charger opponents in 1978 was 123-101, .54.9 That represents the third most difficult schedule in the NFL this season. The New York Jets' opponents were 129-95, .576, in 1977. The Philadelphia Eagles' opponents were 124-100, 554.

USRC Midgets At Speedway

Young sensation Mike Botelho of Reno will be the attraction Saturday night at South Bay Park's Speedway 117 when he attempts to increase his points lead in midget auto action on the dirt quarter-mile oval.

The track is located near Brown Field and a few miles east of Interstate 805 in Otay Mesa.

Gates open at 6 p.m., time trials are set for 7 and the trophy dash will open the show at 8. The midgets will share the program with street stockers of the South Bay Racing Assn., which will give race fans many more laps of competition.

Botelho, 20 years old, holds a 4-point advantage over another fast-rising youngster, Jon Hahe of Mission Viejo. Botelho will pilot Bob Miller's Sesco while Rahe will be in the Brake-Meier Trucking VW.

U.S. Racing officials anticipate a field of more than 30 machines for the season opener of monthly programs.

New Rules May Cut Baseball Violence

In order to prevent violence, baseball has entered the new season with two rules tightened to cut down on roughhouse tactics.

The Official Playing Rules Committee strengthened the brushback rule, giving umpires more authority to deal with inside pitches. The rule also was extended to cover situations where "bad blood" might carry over from a previous game or series.

Another step taken during the Annual Meeting last December in Honolulu was the issuance of directives to umpires at all levels of profession baseball instructing them to make stricter enforcement of the present offensive interference rules. The change, initiated by National League President Chub Feeney. is designed to reduce collisions between baserunners and infielders that can result in injuries. An incident could occur at any base although most of the action is normally around second base.

"Both of these changes strengthen the control of games by the umpires," says John Johnson, baseball's administrative officer and chairman of the rules committee.

Under the revised rule, 8.02 (d), "Intentionally Pitch at the Batter," umpires will now warn moth managers and the pitcher the first time a violation occurs that another such pitch by any hurler on either team will result in immediate expulsion. Previously, the rule limited umpires to warning only the pitcher and defensive team's manager of future expulsion of the pitcher if another such violation occurred.

The rule extension to cover possible retaliation from previous games gives umpires the authority to officially warn one or both teams prior to a game that any brushback pitches will result in expulsion. League presidents may assess additional penalties for players ejected for brushback tactics.

Cajon Speedway Re-Opener Offers 9 Events; 109 Laps

With last week's season opener postponed due to inclement weather, the super stocks of the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. will try again at the Cajon Speedway Saturday night.

Last week's cancellation was the first since April 17, 1971 that a super stock event on the 3/8 mile paved oval was not held as scheduled. But the lousy weather in the area was allowing great amounts of mud and dirt to set on the track and thus the postponement.

The delay will allow the local racing group one more week to prepare for its season opener. Among those teams appreciating the delay are those of Ron Overman, Bobby Roland, Gary Crossland and Steve Nelson. All are preparing new machines for the 1978 campaign and were not ready to go Saturday night.

Nelson, from Spring Valley, says it is still a tough-and-go as to whether his new Camaro will be ready and 1974 champion Overman from El Cajon expects his new Frank Deiny-built car to debut in about three weeks.

But both Gary Crossland and Bobby Roland should be in the pits this Saturday night. Crossland has a new Stock Car Products Camero in his La Mesa Auto Center garage, and Roland is completing construction on his Nova.

Race time Saturday night will be 8, with qualifying set for 6:30.

The 9-event racing card calls for 2 trophy dashes, four 8-lap heat races, a 15-lap consolation, a 20-lap B main, and the 40-lap A main.

22 cars will go postward in the night's finale with the top 20 qualifiers guaranteed starting positions in the race. The other two starters will be the top two finishers in the 20-lap semi final.

At least 60 cars are expected for Saturday night's battle, with five time champion Pat McIntyre from Spring Valley heading the field.

McIntyre, who says he isn't sure how much he will race this year, will be behind the wheel of his championship winning Vinnie Leone-prepared Camaro.

$25,000 Pace Due At LosAl Friday

The hard charging Arrochar Replica, winner of the Clarence Hansen Memorial Pace on April 1, will return to face the top pacers on the west coast in the $25,000 Southern CaClifornia Pace at Los Alamitos on Friday.

Also this weekend, eight lucky finalists will have a chance to share a $1000 prize in the Super Saturday competition. To participate, harness fans need only have a Hot To Trot bumper sticker on their car when they attend the races Tuesday through Saturday evenings. 10 fans are selected each night to return Satuday night for a chance to share in the sixth race purse.

The 58-night SCRA meet runs Monday through Saturday weekly through April. There are five exactas nightly with $2 exactas on the first and final races and $5 exactas on the fourth, sixth and eighth contests. First post time is 7:45 p.m.

2 Grapple Titles At Stake Tuesday At S.D. Coliseum

The fifth defense of the San Diego Heavyweight professional wrestling championship trophy will put champion Hector Guererro in the ring with Moondog Mayne Tuesday night at the S.D. Coliseum.

An American tag team title bout is scheduled to pit the team of David and Goliath against Black Gordman and Chavo Guererro, the present titlists.

And look who's back! Roddy Piper, that irrepressible Scotsman, has returned for a victorious Japanese tour, meets Johnny Rivera.

Dr. Ota grapples with Terry Sawyer in the opener.

The first gong goes off at 7:30.

The Coliseum is at 15th and E streets in downtown San Diego.

2 Light-Heavy Bouts on Card At SD Coliseum

Ronnie Wilson, the light-heavyweight scrapper who lost a split decision to Mike Juarry — a decision that led the near-capacity crowd at the Coliseum to make a loud "beef" a few weeks back, returns Friday night to go against Gene Meira of Hawthorne.

Wilson is local lad who is extremely popular, gets into the ring to right. Unlike too many professional fighters today, Wilson wants to earn the pay he gets for pursuing his profession. Meira, who is also a mixer, will have an evening's work cut out for him. And he'll have 10 rounds — or less — to work.

In another light-heavy bout, Len Provo, recovered from a cold that had him out of ring work for two weeks, has been given Fona Leota of Samoa on whom to try to extend his winning streak. Provo, 175 pounds, of lean, mean muscle, will be seeking his 6th straight victory. The fight is scheduled for 6 rounds.

Two hefty heavyweights will become operative in a 4-rounder. Terry Kaperland of Long Beach meets Rocky Jones of Santa Ana. Each is the 180 pound range.

At press time there was a bout pencilled in for Steve Delgado of San Diego and Alberto Cota but there was still a disagreement between managers. Degado is a capable fighter with a good future—if he quits showboat tactics.

Two other bouts are in the making but in each case there is a minor detail which causes the managers to hold up on inking the pacts.

A lightweight amateur bout is scheduled to open the Friday show. Mike McDougal of E.S.D. mixes it with Silvano Sevela of L.A.

The evening gets under way at 8:15. The Coliseum is at 15th and S streets in downtown San Diego.

Last week Captain Douglas updated the California Highway Patrol's crackdown on tailgating trucks.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation or maybe even your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:
What is the leading cause of accidents in Lemon Grove?

Answer:
By far the leading cause of traffic collisions is failure to yield the right of way. This includes yielding the right of way when making a left turn, right turn on a red light, exiting a private drive, after stopping for a stop sign and at uncontrolled intersections.

New Laws Extend Parking To Blind-Heart Disease Victim

Blind persons and heart disease victims will be issued special license plates and placards permitting preferential parking, just as already permitted to other classes of disabled on July 1.

Motor Vehicles Director Doris V. Alexis has reported many of DMV's offices throughout the state have had to deny the plates and placards to individuals in recent weeks because the applicable laws do not take effect until July.

Under existing law, certain disabled persons are permitted to park vehicles for unlimited periods of time in parking zones and in metered spaces without paying parking fees.

AB 289 (John Vasconcellos, San Jose) makes the parking privilege available to persons who are certified blind; and AB456 (Michael Wornum, San Rafael) extends the privilege to persons impaired by severe cardiovascular disease.

The provisions affecting the blind and heart disease victims were amended last year into Vehicle Code Section 22511.5, which already applied to persons suffering from lung disease, such as severe emphysema, and to persons disabled by loss of limbs as to be "unable to move without the aid of a mechanical device."

The fee for the placard is $4, and it is issued to the person rather than to the vehicle. There is no fee for the special DP license plates, other than regular vehicle registration fees.

Another section of the Code permits towing away of a vehicle from a private offstreet facility, such as a shopping center, when parked in a space designated by a wheelchair outline, if the vehicle does not carry the special plates or a placard.

A fine of not less than $25 on first conviction of such unauthorized parking is also provided for. Enforcement is up to the local police authorities.

Golden Kickoff Is $25 Dinner

The King Golden for Congress campaign will kick-off its primary election fund-raising efforts Saturday with a $25-a-plate dinner at San Diego's Cuyamaca Club.

Golden, a Democrat, is campaigning for the 41st Congressional District seat now held by 26-year incumbent Republican Bob Wilson. A strong candidate against Wilson in 1976, Golden garnered 42% of the total votes cast. Golden has been walking precincts daily since his announcement of candidacy in order to better listen to the concerns of residents of the West San Diego district.

The fundraiser will begin at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails; dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Advance reservations are suggested, as seating is limited. The Cuyamaca Club is located at 1055 1st ave., downtown San Diego.

Briggs Budget Is $1.5 Million In Governor's Race

Senator John V. Briggs (R-Orange County) said he has raised a total of $446,305.53 in contributions and loans in his drive to become Governor of California.

This total does not include $125,674.00 in contributions which were reported received as of December 19, 1977 by the Defend Our Children (formerly Save Our Children) Committee of which Briggs is Chairman.

Briggs is also Chairman of the Citizens for An Effective Death Penalty which has thus far raised $36,000.00.

In addition, there is approximately $100,000 which has been received by these various efforts since the January 1st cutoff for reporting to the Secretary of State. These monies will be reported at the next filing.

The combined total of amounts received by the Gubernatorial campaign, the death penalty campaign and the Defend Our Children campaign is $707,979.53.

Leon Jones, Treasurer of the Briggs for Goveror campaign said, "We expect to raise $1.5 million for the Gubernatorial campaign by May 1st. There can be no doubt that Senator Briggs will have a full-scale campaign for the Republican nomination for Governor, he may well end up with the best funded campaign of any Republican candidate."

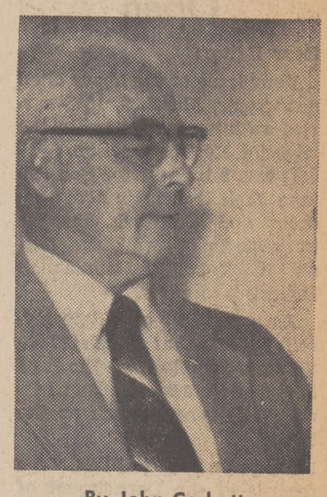
Metric System; How it Works



By John Corbett

While the principal reason we are going metric is economic, there is a second reason which is the inherent simplicity and coherence of the SI compared to our present old English system of poorly related measurement units. Measurement units in the SI are generally related by a factor of one. Multiple and submultiple SI units are made with the use of decimally related prefixes in a manner similar to our monetary coinage structure. This second reason has particular appeal to educators, because it makes the SI easy to teach and easy to learn. Once the average person becomes familiar with a few main metric units such as the metre, litre, gram, and degree Celsius, he will begin to realize the benefits of measuring and working with simple, rational SI units.

The General Conference on Weights and Measures was established following the signing of the Treaty of the Metre in 1875 with the United States as one of the original 17 signatories. SI was introduced in 1960 in the hope of having one modern, worldwide measurement system which would serve all the needs of science, commerce, and industry.

Metrication needs the active support of all interested persons, because a tremendous job of informing the general public is necessary. Education is a key element in a successful metrication program.

The U. S. Metric Association has been promoting metrication for over 61 years, and it will continue to advocate and inform the people on the merits and need of successfully completing the metric changeover. Your active participation in the U. S. Metric Association in invited.

Letters To The Editor

DMV Records Open

Dear Editor:

Your issue of the above cited newspaper, March 9, 1978 carried an interesting item in the "Special Notices" section.

It was a request for Councilman Jack Doherty's home address and indicated that the interested party was Mrs. Bessie K. Doherty, Councilman Doherty's mother.

As a political candidate myself I know that this information is available from the Registrar of Voters and from other public records such as the D.M.V.

To quote Senator Mills, "The records of the Department of Motor Vehicles, generally, are officially classed as public records and as such are open to public inspection" . . . "Furthermore, the Vehicle code provides for the sale of releasable information from these records by the department."

In addition, "any citizen may obtain information if he has the following data. For driver's license information: Name and birthdate or name and driver's license number."

I submitted a request to the DMV on the proper form, paid my $1.00 (plus postage) and asked them to send me councilman Doherty's driver record information which would include his address, physical description, (height, weight, color of eyes, and hair.) Mrs. Doherty can avail herself of this service. I think it ironic that a stranger gets this information under our law which requires the DMV, under the provisions of Division 2, Article 3, of the California Vehicle Code to make these records available.

I share Senator Stull's views, as recently expressed in this newspaper, that our rights to privacy, guaranteed by both U.S. and California Constitutioners are being placed in jeopardy to appease that segment of the population which feels all government record should be open to public inspection.

Riding in the Old Time Days Days parade Saturday in the VFW 2082 Hospital group was our State Grand President Ruby Cook. She is past president of Lemon Grove Post 2082 and M.O.C.A. Auxiliaries. She is the first from San Diego County to reach the goal of Grand President. She is a WAC veteran.

Each week she works as a volunteer at our V.A. hospital and has over 6,000 hours credit. Her aim is 10,000 hours by 1980. Besides making official visits to all auxiliaries in the state, she manages 32 to 40 hours a week at our V.A. hospital.

The Lemon Grove V.F.W. is very proud to say that the first president of hospital group came from Lemon Grove. Her husband, a former plumber here for 20 years, has been confined to the V.A. hospitals since August 2, 1963.

Their son, Carl Jr., is a Viet Nam veteran and their daughter, Donna, is a V.F.W. and M.O.C.A. member. A younger son, Warren, a student, still lives at home.

Ask any veteran around who goes to V.A. and he'll tell you the first smiling face he sees is our president. She dedicates her life to helping our veterans and keeping them smiling in "Beds of White."

S.F. Firm's Poll Finds Approval For SDG&E Sundesert Nuke Plant

SACRAMENTO — Southern Californians believe by a 3 to 1 margin that the legislature should approve the building of the Sundesert Nuclear Plant, according to the results of a public opinion poll released by the Public Response Associates, a private firm based in San Francisco.

Spokesmen from San Diego Gas & Electric, manager of the Sundesert project, said 64 percent of those polled favored approval, 21 percent disapproved, and 15 percent were undecided.

The poll was conducted by the San Francisco firm between March 10 and 14 in the City of Los Angeles, San Diego County, and in the cities of Anaheim, Burbank, Glendale, Pasadena, and Riverside.

The results showed strong support for Sundesert and nuclear power by each of the political, age and racial groups sampled in the survey.

Men approved the plant's construction by a 72 to 18 percent margin while women approved by 56 to 25 percent.

Democrats gave approval by a 60 to 24 percent margin and Republicans by 72 to 17 percent.

Among respondents who considered themselves liberal Democrats, approval received a 55 to 28 percent margin. Conservative Republicans gave the largest approval margin, 77 to 13 percent.

Whites and blacks gave a 65 percent approval margin while Spanish respondents gave a 49 to 29 percent approval rating.

By age groups, the approval figures were:

18 to 30	58 percent
31 to 40	61 percent
41 to 50	63 percent
51 to 60	74 percent
Over 61	67 percent

The youngest age group made up 31 percent of the total 904 persons questioned.

On the question of using nuclear power in general to provide electricity, 69 percent approved and 24 percent opposed, with seven percent undecided. San Diego County gave the highest (73 percent) approval of the areas surveyed.

Nearly 74 percent of the people questioned believed that Southern California faced a "very serious" or "somewhat serious" energy situation.

Twenty-one percent felt that the energy situation was "not too serious" or "not at all serious. Three percent gave no response.

Persons who disapproved of Sundesert responded by a 77 to 19 percent margin that the energy situation of Southern California was serious.

When asked how much longer will it be until an energy shortage begins in Southern California, 53 percent said within five years and 69 percent within 10 years.

Sixteen percent said it would be longer than 10 years, and 14 percent did not know or did not answer. Seventy-two percent of those favoring Sundesert felt the energy crunch would start in less than 10 10 years while 73 percent of those disapproving Sundesert felt the same.

When asked to rank five types of fuel as to their desirability for use in a power plant, the sample group gave a clear majority to nuclear.

Natural gas ranked number two behind nuclear. Geothermal was third. Coal was fourth and oil fifth.

On the question of how soon solar energy would be used for making electricity on a wide scale, 37 percent said within five years, 64 percent said within 10 years and 28 percent said more than 10 years.

Eight percent did not know or gave no answer.

Nearly 86 percent of San Diego County residents questioned said they had recently heard something about the Sundesert project, and 14 percent said they had not. Overall, 68 percent of those questioned said they had heard something recently about the project.

Likewise, 70 percent said they were "very" or "somewhat" familiar with the project, while 30 percent said they were "hardly" or "not at all" familiar.

New Deadline Set for County Dog License

Dog owners who have failed to pay dog license renewal fees have one last chance to do so before the County of San Diego Department of Animal Control takes action.

Reminder notices have been mailed to some 25,000 dog owners living in the unincorporated areas and in the cities, including Lemon Grove.

February 18 was the last day to renew dog licenses without paying an addition $2 late fee. Dog owners now have until April 18 to renew licenses before the delinquent accounts are turned over to Animal Control officials.

Encil Rains, director of the Department of Animal Control, says after April 18, dog owners will be contacted by Department personnel, either through a phone call, a personal visit, or both.

"After the contact is made, the dog owner will either renew the license and pay the $2 late fee, or will be cited by our officers and will be required to appear in court to answer the citation. Failure to renew the dog license is a misdemeanor and is punishable by a maximum $500 fine and/or six months in jail," said Rains.

"When our officers visit a delinquent dog owner, we will not only impound the animal. But we will not hesitate to issue a citation to the dog's owner," Rains explained.

Questions regarding licensing should be directed to the County Treasurer - Tax Collector's office at 236-3171.

Tax Postponement Deadline Monday

SACRAMENTO—State Controller Kenneth Cory today reminded homeowners that they must act on Monday if they wish to take advantage of the Senior Citizens Property Tax Postponement program for this year.

"The Legislature recently extended the filing deadline and broadened the eligibility rules," Cory said, "but the new deadline is near for anyone who has not already contacted the Franchise Tax Board for information on filing."

Cory said that through March 24 his office had mailed tax postponement certificates to 10,700 applicants who qualified earlier, and an estimated 5600 applicants already had presented the certificates to their County Tax Collectors to postpone property taxes totaling $6,421,000.

"Many homeowners whose claims were disallowed earlier are now being reconsidered automatically under the broadened eligibility rules," Cory said. "Others who did not file earlier because they felt they were not eligible should now contact the nearest Franchise Tax Board office."

Full explanation is available by toll-free telephone calls to (800) 852-5711.

Stock Sale Postponed By SD Gas & Electric

San Diego Gas & Electric has announced it has postponed until April 19 or 20 an offering of 2.5 million shares of common stock and $50 million in first mortgage bonds. The securities originally were to have been placed for sale on Tuesday.

Ralph L. Meyer, SDG&E senior vice president and treasurer, said the postponement was due to imminent action by the California Public Utilities Commission.

"The PUC agenda for April 4 indicated the Commission would consider making an interim decision on the company's resource plan options," Meyer explained. "In view of the uncertainty this creates, we consider it advisable to delay the offerings until the PUC has acted."
